STILL TIME TO SHARE YOUR VIEWS ON PROPOSED SEND CHANGES

The Government has recently published a Schools White Paper called Every Child Achieving and Thriving.

Alongside this, a national consultation has been launched on proposed changes to the SEND system called Putting Children and Young People First.

Have your say

Parents, carers, young people and professionals are invited to share their views as part of the national consultation.

The consultation will close on 18 May 2026.

Respond to the consultation here: SEND Reform Consultation

SEND REFORM PLANNING - A PARTNERSHIP APPROACH

More than 100 professionals, parents and carers came together on Wednesday 15th April for Walsall's All Partnership Day, marking a significant milestone in shaping the borough's future SEND Reform Plan.

The day brought together colleagues from education, health and social care alongside parents and carers, creating a welcoming space for sharing knowledge and experiences and having open, honest conversations. Voices from across the partnership helped shape plans that reflect real experiences and local needs.

Working together, participants explored what the three SEND reform pillars – Universal Provision, Experts at Hand and Pupil Placement - should look like for children and young people in Walsall. Discussions were positive, focused and future-looking, with a strong emphasis on what success should look like over the next three years.

Momentum from the Partnership Day has continued. Two further co-production sessions have since taken place, each attended by over 85 partners, demonstrating the strength of commitment across the partnership. These sessions enabled partners to further refine and co-produce a SEND Reform Plan that truly reflects Walsall's needs.

We are incredibly proud of the commitment shown, particularly given the short timescales. The enthusiasm, positive energy and shared sense of purpose were clear across all sessions.

Co-production remains central to our approach, and we look forward to continuing this work together as we turn ambition into meaningful change for children and young people with SEND

Thank you to everyone who has contributed and continues to help shape Walsall's SEND future.

YOUTH SEND FORUM - MY INCLUSIVE SCHOOL

At our recent Youth SEND Forum, young people shared what inclusion in school really means to them, helping to shape our SEND reform plan.

They described inclusion as “making sure that nobody’s being left out,” “when everybody’s being treated the same,” and “feeling like you fit in the classroom.” Feeling listened to and understood by adults was seen as a really important part of this.

The young people spoke about what helps them learn best, including visual timetables, sensory breaks, and “extra help in the form of an adult that knows you.” They highlighted that learning is easier when teachers understand them as individuals. One young person summed up their ideal support as “a space where I can go where there’s no distractions.”

Young people then created drawings showing “what an inclusive school looks like” to them. These ideas and lived experiences are directly influencing our SEND reform planning, ensuring young people’s voice are heard and valued.

The Youth SEND Forum will be meeting in person this half term!

If you or a young person you know aged 8-16 years old would like an opportunity to share your thoughts, experiences and meet other like minded young people please get in touch

We are really excited to meet all the young people in person and hear directly from them!

Please contact Sam on: samantha.house@walsall.gov.uk to get involved.

What does it involve?

This supported internship programme gives young people with special educational needs the chance to learn real job skills in a busy Asda store.
